

Instructional Observation Coaching Certificate Program 2021-2022

Are you interested in learning about the science and art of instructional coaching skills?

Our approach

Reach believes that instructional coaching and coaching for equity are at the heart of instructional improvement. You will be introduced to some foundational, observation-based, coaching concepts through our seminars, reading relevant research, and online discussions. You will have the opportunity to begin to intentionally develop those skills through video submissions, coaching sessions, and a performance assessment.

Goals of the program:

Instructional Observation Coaching Certificate graduates will be able to use appropriate coaching stances, guide teachers in the co-analysis of observation data and the development of clear actionable next steps. Instructional Observation Coaching Certificate candidates will have the skills to surface and address issues of equity in the classroom.
